LOCAL AND PERSONAL

MORE ON INCORPORATION.

Mr. Fletcher Davis, the editor of the Hondo Anvil Herald, in a very well written editorial in the last issue of his paper, treated the subject of incorporation in a way that stressed all the possible evils found under incorporation. This editorial might frighten most readers with its sordid picture of an incorporated city having the power to levy and collect through coercive force such taxes by the sale of "the roof from over your head to satisfy a tax claim". This is all true but would it be necessary in actual practice?

Sure, let's not make any mistake about this incorporation business. Certainly it's going to take money to run an incorporated city; who ever heard of getting something for nothing. Some big-hearted uncle might be so foolish as to give you a car, but to use and realize some benefit from it would necessitate your paying out cash for fuel, etc. But still with this gift car you should be able to get a little more pleasure out of life and maybe aid your business too.

The local Chamber of Commerce Luncheon Club, so called, did sponsor the move to have an election to decide whether Hondo should incorporate or not and it may have acted unwisely in doing so, but it did so, and that's that! Whether it was acting as the Chamber of Commerce, de jure, or de facto, has nothing to do with the question. This "alleged" Chamber of Commerce is the only civil and public-spirited organization in town and seems to be the only group that has ever attempted to better local conditions and act for the public good without a financially selfish motive prompting it. Every citizen of Hondo had ample notice and opportunity to be present at the meeting and voice their opinion on the matter. Did this "majority" show enough interest to come?

It seems that the "majority" would rather stand on the street corner and offer "curb-stone" opinions and criticism in denouncing the "minority" for their part in the matter and even went so far as to refer to some of those interested in the matter as "aliens" to Hondo. (Well, it is rumored that some have filed applications with Judge Rothe for their "naturalization" papers.) Whether some of the "minority" are freeholders or not in Hondo should have no weight as to the merits of the proposition of incorporation, as the only point at issue is whether incorporation will benefit the town or not.

Sometimes it is sort of hard to understand how our good people were ever convinced that the automobile was a better means of transportation than the old horse and buggy because the horse and buggy were considered good enough for our forefathers; but they finally accepted it. Now as to incorporating our fair city of Hondo—well, I don't suppose that has any application, so we'll just skip it!

Let's hear from some of this "majority group" in the way of constructive criticism. We would be only too glad to find a means of solving some of our local problems without incorporating. Let's not start "throwing mud" or dealing in personalities, as it's only a question of whether we are to incorporate or not and each of us has a right to our opinions on the matter. Incorporation is only a suggested means to an end, looking to the betterment of our city, so let's work together toward the common goal and not become bitter and start a civil war.

AMERICAN LEGION WEEK PROCLAIMED.

Governor James V. Allred, World War veteran and a Legionnaire, has proclaimed the week of November 7-13 as American Legion Week in Texas. During this week The American Legion in Texas directed by Dr. W. J. Danforth of Ft. Worth, Department Commander, will make a determined drive to double its 1937 membership. In the above picture Governor Allred is handing the proclamation to W. J. Danforth, Commander.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 26.—The greatest drive for members in the history of the American Legion in Texas will get under way on November 6, it was announced today by Dr. W. J. Danforth, Department Commander.

Division and district commanders and the numerous Posts scattered throughout the State have perfected plans for the membership "push".

Impetus to the drive was given by Gov. James V. Allred when he set aside the week of November 6-13 as American Legion Week and called upon every World War veteran in the State to align themselves with this public spirited and patriotic organization of men and women. In his proclamation the Governor said:

"The American Legion takes its rightful place among the top-ranking organizations of national importance, notably as an organization whose primary functions are the perpetuation of our American ideals and institutions; the rehabilitation of those suffering from service connected disabilities and the employment of all able to work, adequate care of the dependents of those brave men and women who have paid the supreme sacrifice; and the maintenance of lasting peace."

The American Legion program for Texas during the next 12 months has been shaped by Commander Danforth. It includes a 10-point public health program, continued child welfare, a drive to find employment for men who have passed the 40-year mark, a lasting and secure peace for the nation; a continuation of its work among the boys of the State; and a broadened service to the State and the communities in the State.

Memberships already are rolling into State Headquarters. Thousands of veterans who have never belonged to The American Legion are seeking membership and an opportunity to put their shoulder to the wheel. There are approximately 135,000 World War veterans eligible for membership in the American Legion in Texas and it is the hope of Commander Danforth that at least half of this number be members of the American Legion at the end of the week's membership drive.

Veterans of Texas! Join your local American Legion Post today!

TODAY'S TAXOGRAM.

Nearly one-third of the rent the average citizen pays represents taxation. Last year the average rent paid in the United States was $30 per month of which approximately $9 was for direct and indirect taxes, such as taxes on the property, gas, lights and fuel, etc. Thus, in one year, the average family has $108 extra tacked onto the rent bill.—From Industrial Press Service.

The foregoing statement from a highly informed economist and student of government sets one to thinking.

It is one of many concrete examples of the burdensome load of taxes under which we labor today.

That burden is for the most part an accumulation of "small taxes—too little to hurt", slipped over an unsuspecting or unwary people one at a time on the plea of some specific need or in order to be "progressive".

A further analysis will reveal that the most of that "slipping" has been done by a slippery, but virile, active and well organized minority, prompted either by some selfish purpose or misguided zeal, while those who bear the brunt of the burden sit supinely by until the tax was all but irrevocably fastened upon them.

This raises the interesting speculation as to where the advocates of incorporation for Hondo would place the increased burden on rental property incident to a municipal tax—on the landlord or the tenant?

The burden will have to be shouldered; the tax, however "small"—what a vast scope that term "small" can be made to cover—will have to be paid; the rentals are the only source of income for that purpose.

Do the occupants of rental property who advocate this increased burden incident to incorporation intend to willingly assume that expense?

If so why is it so difficult at times to meet the comparatively low rental costs now charged in Hondo?

If you think this question is beside the point, if you have had no trouble paying your rent, approach the matter from the other side and try being a rental agent and collector for a while.

Do the owners of rental property, on the other hand, agree to relieve their tenants of this burden by assuming it all themselves, and thereby admit that their present charges are and have been excessive to the extent, at least, that the added tax will deduct from their rental incomes?

Our experience as a rental agent over a period of years exceeding the lives of some of the more "progressive" of the incorporation advocates, has convinced us that for an investment, rental property—that is, residential—is about as low an income-producing investment as one can make; the scarcity of desirable rental property, incongruous as it may seem at first glance, would seem to bear this out.

In this connection, landlords will not fail to remember that when they place it within the power of a city commission to levy taxes on their property to the amount sufficient to meet their spending whims and the power likewise to force payment under a tax lien even to confiscation of property and sale under the hammer, they go even further.

And this really IS "awful!"

Should the spending proclivities of the city administration create the need for more money than is being normally produced, you have placed it within their power to RAISE MORE FUNDS BY RAISING YOUR ASSESSMENTS.

We hesitate to mention this because some already over-burdened taxpayers are already shuddering lest someone will think of it as the only solution of the "creeping deficit" already worrying friends of our splendid public school.

But the truth needs must be told!

And it is true that as a tax commission the city administrators can raise your valuations arbitrarily over your own estimate; and as a board of equalization, no matter how zealously your tax-assessor and you have striven to arrive at a fair and equitable assessment or with whatunction to your soul you have raised your hand before Almighty God and sworn that you have "full and fair rendition made", they can brand you as a perjurer and a falsifier by raising your assessment; and you have no recourse in law or equity, to the knowledge of this writer, and if any there be it would be at an expense and annoyance too great for most to pay even for the maintenance of an Engineer Herbert Schroeter, is now a resident engineer in Devine, with several men under him, took offices this week, over the bank and began work surveying and making specifications for Highway No. 173, leading East from Devine. Mr. Schroeter expects to move his family from San Antonio as soon as he can get suitable apartments. Getting specifications for the road bed, bridges, etc., is what the men are to do at present. It is officially determined that $70,000 is available for work on the new Devine-Jourdanton end of Highway No. 173; the understanding is that this will go a long way in securing the dump and building the bridges to where the road will be passable, looking later to hardsurfacing. The road was surveyed and blue prints made several months ago.

It is believed that the $70,000 allotted us will build the dump and bridges as far as Kyote; but so far Frio County has not signed up their deeds and the work may stop at the county line, until the right of way is secured. Those interested in having such a road right to or through their property will in most cases be benefited and should hurry and sign up. If it takes "condemnatory" steps to get a right-of-way, the benefits, as well as injuries to property are considered.

TO AMELIA DEARHART.

You have dared Death on many a trackless waste
Of ocean, where a sail was never spread—

You have winged high on white clouds, with the taste
Of rain upon your lips, stars overhead.

And if Death won the victory at last I'm sure you met him with your gamin smile, Eager to share in that adventure vast.

And unafraid of each uncharted mile.

You have gone bravely as 'proud souls do go
Upon strong wings to that last mystery;

Into the silence, where the great dreams flow
Like tides back to shores of Eternity.

While we, poor earth-bound creatures, long shall cling
To memories of white courage, on the wing!

P.T.A. Clears $178

The Hallowe'en Carnival sponsored by the Hondo Parent-Teacher Association Saturday night drew a large crowd of both school children and adults to the school grounds where the carnival was in progress from seven o'clock until nine. Mrs. E. G. Pope, president of the local P. T. A., reported a profit of $178 made from all booths, games, and shows.

Main features of the carnival were a parade, the "Christopher Columbus Playlet", a skit, side-shows, the pet show, supper, and cakes, candies, and drinks could be bought at any time.

The Home Economics Club served delicious sandwiches and coffee. The tenth grade offered for sale cakes baked by the mothers, and the eighth grade booth sold pies. The second grade sold candy, the fourth grade sold orangeade and the fifth grade sold cookies.

The Cat Stand attracted a large crowd at the carnival also. The sophomore class had charge of this feature, eight dollars being taken in. There was a little trouble at first because the cats were too easy to knock down. However, this problem was solved by placing the cats on a stand that made it harder for them to be knocked down. The seventh grade's fish pond and the third grade's grab bag added to the variety of the amusements offered.

The first grade gave a pet show. They invited the second, third and fourth grades to enter their pets. These pets were judged on the usefulness, funniest, prettiest, and the ugliest. The sixth grade gave a play which was very interesting as well as historical. Miss Emma Hodges directed it.

The skit, "Fun on The Old Plantation", drew a large amount of applause and laughter again, when the gun refused to go off. Eva Earnest just couldn't pull the trigger. It was a negro playlet, though the actors failed to make up. Georgia Mae Muenink, an old negro uncle, smoked her way into the public's eyes. Miss Dusie Dumplin played by Zonie Taylor, gave the crowd another glimpse of her fashionable red dress. The others, Bonnie Jack Cameron and Wanda Dawson could really make love to Dusie.

Kitty: "Gracious, it's been five years since I've seen you. You look lots older."
 Kat: "Really, my dear? I don't think I would have recognized you if it wasn't for the coat."—U. S. Tennessee Tar.

A Blocked Punt Gives Owls Lone Score

MOVING A STEP CLOSER to realizing their once distant dream of winning the district title, the Hondo Owls squeezed out a 7 to 0 victory over the "Powerhouse" Cotulla Cowboys last Friday night in Cotulla.

Taking advantage of the only break in a hard fought game, a blocked punt, the Owls virtually smothered every Cowboy attempt to get back in the running. Hondo's defense rose to its greatest heights when

Owls Play Pearsall November 11

The Owls have a week of rest and will take on the up-and-coming Pearsall Mavericks on Thursday, November 11. The Mavericks showed lots of power in defeating the Sabinal Yellowjackets 25 to 7 last week and instead of being a breather for the Owls, the game will be another close and hard fought battle.

The game will be played on Barry Field, starting at 2:30 o'clock.

Pep Squad Performs

The pep squad "en masse" traveled to Cotulla last Friday night, to back the football boys and really show those Cotulla people that Hondo has a fine pep squad. The pep squad marched in a few minutes before the game started and pepped the boys up with several good yells. At the intermission between the halves of the game the Hondo girls put on their stunt. They marched on the field in groups of four. A "C", for Cotulla Cowboys, was made and fifteen "Ra's" were given for Cotulla. At a given signal part of the pep squad girls marched out and formed the letters "O-W-L-S" while the other girls formed a large "O" and gave the following yell: "O-W-L-S—Ra's—Ra's—Owls!" Then the girls marched off in partners.

Plans have been made to have a bigger and better stunt than ever before at the Pearsall game November 11. As school will be turned out that day to celebrate, the pep squad girls will do their best to perform beautifully. During the stunt to be given, the song, "For Hondo's Honor and Glory", which has been adopted as Hondo's school song, will be sung and all supporters of the Hondo Owls attending the game will be asked to rise, to show their loyalty to the school.

Plans have been made to sell peanuts, sandwiches, and soda water as it will be a home game, and everyone is asked to buy from the pep squad girls in order that they will be able to give a bigger and better football banquet this year.

Playfoot—Thinking of me, Dear-est?
 Sally—Was I laughing? I'm so sorry.

Danie, alert Owl guard, charged through and blocked one of Peter's punts on Cotulla's 15-yard line. Bader scooped the ball up and ran the remaining few yards to the only counter of the game. He topped this sterling performance by kicking a perfect placement for extra point.

Cowboys Threaten Once
 Only once did Cotulla penetrate into the Owls' end of the field; this threat stopped on the thirty-five yard line. Peters, doing most of the ball toting for the "Gauchos", showed plenty of drive. The ability of the Owl linemen to keep Tudor, ace broken-field runner, hemmed in was remarkable.

The punting duel was also out of the ordinary, Danie and Peters punting 23 and 18 times respectively. Safety men of both teams never had a chance to demonstrate their swivel hips due to the opposition's ability to get down the field under the lofty spirals of their kickers.

Following is a summary of play:
 Hondo received the kick-off on an out-of-bounds kick and punted after ground plays failed to gain. The Cowboys followed suit and the Owls drove to midfield before punting to the ten. The ball continued to take its long aerial trips from the feet to the teams' respective punters for the remainder of the period.

Owls Score
 Mid way in the second period came the blocked punt, described earlier in this article, that resulted in the Owl touchdown. After the kick-off the Owls received a fumble and drove to the two-yard Cotulla line where the Prides of Cotulla rose up and thrust Hondo's ball carriers back for losses to take the ball on downs.

In the third period nothing but punts were in the air, each team punting six times. The Owls ended the period with the ball in their possession on the 50 yard line.

The last period was a repetition of the others gone by with the exception of one thing. Peters was now desperately filling the air with passes instead of punts but was unable to complete more than three short heaves for little or no gain.

The Owls have an off week in their schedule this week and are destined to become more polished in blocking and other important fundamentals of football.

"Did your watch stop when it hit the floor?"
 "Sure, did you think it would go on through?"—Army and Navy Journal.

1ST GRADE—What fun! What fun! We all had fun Hallowe'en and saw such funny, funny people walking around. Most of us were in the parade and enjoyed it very much. Our pet show was fine. We think the pets enjoyed it as much as we did. Edra Bendele's ducks got the blue ribbon because they were the funniest. Edra says they are so proud that they go around with their heads high. Marjorie Britsch's dog didn't want to go home. He got away from them and went back to the show.

Mrs. Carle gave us a surprise Friday afternoon. She came to school and brought each of us a Hallowe'en cricket and Hallowe'en candy. We sure did make some noise. Our room looked pretty last week because Mrs. Carle sent us some flowers.

A. G. Wendland went to the ranch Sunday. On the way home the car ran over a rattlesnake. They stopped and Mr. Wendland shot the snake.

Norma Zane Kollman went to Cotulla and Sunday she went to the Medina River.

Mary Joyce Saathoff's cousin visited her Sunday.

Betty Garrison's cousin came to see her.

4TH GRADE—The fourth grade took in $9.30 at the orange ade booth Saturday night at the carnival. They had a very entertaining program of poems, stories, songs and games Friday afternoon. Mrs. Robert Kollman, the room mother, was present with a box of candy and cookies for the room.

Buddy Garber went to San Antonio Sunday.

Mr. J. G. Barry, Superintendent of the Hondo Public Schools, suffered an attack of appendicitis Sunday night and was immediately carried to the Medina Hospital where he was operated on at nine-thirty that night. He is on the road to recovery and the student body as a whole wishes him quick recovery and hopes to see him back at school very soon.

carnival Saturday night and had a good time.

Jimmy Rogers and Roy Carter, who were sick last week, returned to school Monday.

Gladys Bohlen went to Cotulla to the football game Friday.

Jimmy Duncan went to San Antonio Saturday.

Darlene Brucks went to Yancey Sunday.

James Duderstadt went wolf-hunting.

Hal Hunter went to Castroville Sunday and June Caraway went Saturday.

Someone took a sack full of things from the room during the week-end. We wish it had not happened, as we like to think that no person in our school would take things belonging to someone else.

—Owlets—

6TH GRADE REPORTS—Ho! Hum! The sixth graders are breathing a sigh of relief—The Carnival is over. We want to thank all who came to our show and also those who bought candy from us.

Our room mother visited us Friday and served us candy and cookies. We really appreciate the things she does for us.

Margaret Woolls and Bobby Van Fleet saw the football game in Cotulla Friday night.

Howard Caraway and Kietha Bendele went to Castroville over the week-end.

Dorothy Lee Hoeke went to Boerne Sunday.

Efren Cavazos and Odilia Quintanilla went to San Antonio Sunday.

Volley Ball Club Organized

A volley ball club was organized and officers elected at a meeting Monday afternoon, in the high school auditorium. Tuesday and Wednesday were chosen as practice days, and a vote was carried to pay fifteen cents a month for dues.

Officers elected are: Susie Muenink, president; Zonie Taylor, secretary; and Panalee Thompson, treasurer.

Seniors Enact Carnival Roles

"Carnival Row", that hilariously entertaining feature produced by the Seniors Saturday night at the P-T. A. Hallowe'en Carnival, proved to be one of the main attractions of the carnival, with customers avowing they would gladly have paid twenty-five and fifty cents to glimpse the sights offered by the Seniors.

The Quintuplets—Thomas "Marie" Danie, Edward "Emilie" Finger, J. P. "Yvonne" Ney, Glen "Cecile" Pope, and Elgin "Annette" Wiemers,—were not at all self-conscious while the crowds gazed. They were as much at home as if they had been in their own nursery with only their nurses and Dr. Dafoe. Mamma Dionne (Dorothy Mae Moore) and Pappa Dionne (David Williams) seemed to enjoy the opportunity of spending the evening with the quints.

Hawaii with all of her charm was represented by three famous hula-hula dancers—seniors Anthony Jungman, Garry Thurman, and John Cameron. During the entire performance, Lady Lupe (Billie Merritt), the bareback rider, was never once thrown from her wild and bucking tricycle.

And when they struck up the band, did Sally Rand ever put up her fan! Robert David "Babo" Windrow evidenced the same artistic mastery of a fan that he does the game of football.

Several people (out of pure fright) offered to pay for Wild Woman Wanda Redmond's return ticket to Borneo. Hondo High School, being the wonderful place that it is, has calmed the wild woman to such an extent that she has decided to remain and adopt our civilization.

—Owlets—

COSTUME PRIZES AWARDED.

Julia Mazelle "Doolie" Crow and Alice Crow won the first and second prizes respectively in the masquerade contest sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association Carnival Saturday night.

The contestants for the prizes, led by the Hondo Pep Squad in uniform, paraded around the carnival grounds several times to display their costumes and to give judges an opportunity to make their decisions.

"Doolie", winner, wore a white peasant's dress embroidered in red, green, blue, and gold. Alice, representing a witch, wore a black dress and mask and carried a witch's broom. The first prize was a dollar; the second prize, fifty cents.

vehicle, "Make A Wish". Others in the cast include Basil Rathbone,

Marion Claire, Henry Armetta, Ralph Barker, Billy Lee and Donald Meek. Breen, a student at a boy's camp, meets Composer Rathbone, who uses incidents in the boy's life as the basis for an opera. Breen

meets his mother, Marion Claire, meet Rathbone and the two fall in love. The score of the opera is lost—Breen and his mother rewrite it—she sings the leading role—and all ends happily.

Outbound shipments from the local depot fell off somewhat the past week, consisting of four cars of hay ("believe it or not"), one of broom-corn and one of cattle, the latter being shipped by Mr. W. J. Nester to Fort Worth. Building, traveling and farming operations, however, seem to be still on the "up and up" despite the continued dry weather. Inbound shipments consisted of one car of lumber, one of cement, one of gasoline, two of seed oats and two of corned feed products—hulls and meal.

The Thursday Bridge Club met last week with Mrs. H. J. Meyer as hostess. There were three tables of players and prizes were awarded.
Mrs. J. M. Finger for high score and Mrs. O. B. Taylor, second high, for members and Mrs. Volney Boon, high for guests. Refreshments of molasses salad, stuffed pepper rings, saltines, candy and iced tea were served. The personnel included Mesdames Hunter Kollman, Ed. Cameron, Roy Hunter, O. H. Miller, R. J. Noonan, Earl Starnes, L.
E. Heach, L. J. Brucks, O. B. Taylor, J. M. Finger, Volney Boon, and the hostess, Mrs. Meyer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Saathoff, with Wesley Breiten chaffering, visited Bandera and Medina City last Sunday. From Medina City they went to Kerrville over State Highway No.
16, which Mr. Saathoff says is crookier than the Davis Mountains road and affords some beautiful hill scenery. Going over the divide between the Medina and Guadalupe drainage areas, the elevation is so high and the grades so steep there is a road-sign warning to the autoist to change gears. From Kerrville they returned by way of Center Point, Comfort, Boerne, via the Scenic Loop and home by Maverick and Riomedina. At Comfort they visited Rolf Balzen and also Mr. and Mrs.
And. Sprott, inmates of the Herman Sons home for the aged. There are about 60 happy and contented inmates of this splendid institution there. All this long trip was made in one day and they were home by nine o'clock in the evening.

the purpose of judging the exhibits of the Home Demonstration Clubs in Atascosa County.

Several hundred containers of fruits, vegetables, pickles, jellies and

Miss Gena Truemes, Home Demonstration Agent of Caldwell County, judged with Miss Foley.

4-H CLUB BOYS AND GIRLS TO PRESENT RADIO BROADCAST.

Every 4-H club boy and girl will want to have their radio dial turned to Radio Station WOAI, San Antonio, on November 6 for it is National 4-H Club Achievement Day.

4-H boys and girls from Maine to California will participate in this national radio broadcast to tell the nation of some of their achievements
during the year of 1937.

The program will begin at 11:30
A. M. The first fifteen minutes of the program will be presented by the National Broadcasting Station. Then WOAI will tie in, and present the boys and girls from this district. At 12:15, the program will be returned to N. P. C. and the broadcast continued from their studios.

You will want to be listening as your next door neighbor will be on the air.

VISITS MADE TO 4-H PANTRIES.

"I know that I need a ventilated pantry in my home to keep my canned fruits and vegetables in if I expect them to have the minimum amount of food value and flavor," so declared many of the forty-two home demonstration club women who, on Thursday, October 28, participated in the second series of visits to the 4-H pantries which have been conducted in the county.

On Thursday, October 21, some twenty-five club women met in Hondo and began the series of visits to the homes of the 4-H pantry demonstrators who have improved and built ventilated storage spaces for their family's food. The group visited the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Riff, Quihi, Mr. and Mrs. Henry
Weynand, D'Hanis, and Mr. and Mrs.
Chris Wiemers, Yancey. At the noon hour, the group spread a picnic meal at the park near the water works.

On the second visit, the group
went to the homes of Mr. and Mrs.
J. D. Schweers, Dunlay, Mr. and Mrs.
Felix Stinson, Riomedina, and Mr.
and Mrs. William Bohl at LaCoste.
During the noon hour, the group
spread a basket lunch at the Haas Park at Castroville.

Many different types of pantries were noted by the visitors, and many good ideas were obtained for the visitors to take back home and use.

ANNETTE ROTHE IN "WHO'S WHO".

Miss Annette Rothe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Rothe, will have versities and Colleges" published by the University of Alabama.

Miss Rothe is a Junior of Our Lady of the Lake College and her name and biographical sketch will appear with six other juniors and seniors of the College. These students were se-basis of character, leadership in extra-curricula activities, and scholarship, possibility of future usefulness

QUIHI NOTES.

Dwell in the land which I shall tell thee of; sojourn in this land, and I will be with thee, and will bless thee. Gen. 26:2-3.

When all goes well, life is "as rare as a day in June" in the north or the halcyon October days in the south, from morning glow till afternoon, sunshine upon the fields, sunshine and song in the heart. And after the day is done, a pensive soul often pauses to drink the delight of the evening, perhaps watching the birds darting about the trees, chattering, warbling the last stanza of their song of thanksgiving; watching the sunset-gold turn into pink—lavender—purple, watching the night and darkness creep over the mountains, and silence breathing a soothing lullaby. The day at rest. Then even night has its charm, with the hoarse croak of distant frogs, bats weaving and swooping in the air, crickets chirping in the grass, fireflies silently sailing their zigzag course, the million stars in wistful twinkle, and, later, the pale moon standing in lofty heights in her old glory, leisurely lightening the peaceful night, and, often, to use a risky metaphor, with her tongue in her cheek at what she discovers. And then comes the famine, sickness, fire, storm, death, misery and depression in long strides, and the charm of night and day and life is blown into smithereens, the heart is alarm, melancholia, rebellion. The very air becomes dusty, smoky, jangling, insipid and brackish, the day with its dust and dearth and din has no longer sense, and the very silence of the night shouts like an army of drunken soldiers; the laborer tramps the highways and byways, the business man closes the doors and draws the blinds, the poet turns bond salesman, the artist, advertising expert, "the skimmed milk (man) slanders the cream" and, as it were, "Apollo's bust makes lime for Mammon's tower" (for a few, storms always blow apples in their lap). And many, for adjustment, plunge into the fire. The farmer packs up and moves on—somewhere. But "the beautiful land of Somewhere" also has its famines and prosperity slides, its financial lulls and economic doldrums. The Lord pleads with Isaac, Sojourn in this land; I will be with thee, will bless thee. Pretty, powerful promises, and still valid for them that listen to Him and trust Him. But in a stage of general alarm, many prefer to be with themselves, to be left strictly alone, to follow their own avenue of escape, to be masters of their own homemade blessing, to beat the world at its own game. Success guaranteed? Sure without God? In the fact of the disastrous calamity, in the midst of his trek, with the land of promise, Egypt, almost within sight, what effect has God's assurance upon Isaac?

Several children were offered to God in holy baptism: Leroy Howard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schulte. The sponsors were Mr. Hy. Schulte, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wiemers. The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Saathoff was named Leonard Clarence. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Saathoff assumed the sponsorship. May the Lord complete what has been begun in His sacrament, and safely guide these children through a troublesome and dangerous world on His path of blessing.

Thieves, petty or big, professional or occasional, by rights, need no classification. They all bear the same label and are branded as the scum and dreg of our social organism. But they belong to the lowest of their lousy lot, when they steal the orphan's penny, the widow's wash-tub, the blind man's fiddle and the young bride's wedding dress and outfit. The latter happened to Mrs. Herbert Brucks in broad daylight of safe and sane San Antonio. Our sympathy, indeed.

Our annual mission festival is scheduled for the third Sunday in November for two services, with Rev. L. Billnitzer, of Marion, Texas, as our guest preacher. We make this preliminary announcement so you can arrange to be with us on that day. If things stand normal, you are one of God's working crew on earth and the message bears upon your work.

Coming back from the hospital the other night, we again had the doubtful pleasure of camping a few hours on the highway, nursing a stalled car. And how they stepped on it, when we signaled for a halt. Things have come to a pretty pass. Man distrusts man, more so in the dark, and whether prince, pastor or peasant, the distress signal causes suspicion and fear. And well grounded is that distrust, with ever so many thumb-wigglers stabbing their hosts in the back, for service rendered. We bowed in shame for this world of culprits that keep humanity on jump and jitters.

Announcements for November the 7th: German service at 10:30; Sunday school at 9:30; English service at 7 P. M. Preparations for Christmas have started in song and word. Let your children join. And why forget the Sunday service? "What have I done to you, my people, that you avoid the temple of the Lord?" The Lord's question. And your answer?

SECO SCHOOL NOTES.

S. Y. D. Club.

The members and guess of the newly organized young people's club of the Seco School celebrated Halloween last Thursday night with a weiner roast on the school campus. When the guests arrived they found a roaring fire and weird-looking Jack-o'-lanterns the only light on the school grounds. Games had been planned by Mrs. Thompson, the sponsor of the S. Y. D. Club, who also told everyone's fortune. The forty young people present thoroughly enjoyed a full evening of entertainment.

Seco School Celebrates.

Members of the first through the fifth grades welcomed as many bats, spooks, cats, and goblins as were flying around their room last Friday afternoon to join their fun in the schoolroom. After appropriately decorating their room a variety of games were enjoyed by the students. The party reached its climax when Miss Harper presented each child with a Jack-o'-lantern filled with such things to eat as children love. They are looking forward to more celebration of holidays.

AFTERMATH.

O, I am not afraid to die—
For I could see the whole world from the sky.

It would be very lovely—but then I might wish I were back again.
—Joy Kirgan, Fairfield, Texas.

THE SINNER.

His sins were many and grievous,
You knew about them all.
They were open so man could read them
Like posters on a wall.

You were loud in your condemnation—
I gave no answer to you.
I knew of his sins for I saw them,
But I saw his suffering, too.

I saw him struggling in darkness
Beneath a thick black pall.
He sinned, but, Christ, now he suffered,
But you did not see that at all.

—Elia Vilosa Freeman, Dallas, Texas

Beckon me to follow
Their gypsy company.

LITTLE HOUSE.

Little house beneath the trees
Did some one's dreams die that you
Are left forsaken?
Did a soul who loved you
Tire of living, leaving you—
Shutters closed like poor dead eyes Forever blinded?
—Mrs. J. G. Noel, Atascosa, Texas.

MY THANKS.

Lord, here's my thanks to thee:
A well kept house; a smile
For those I love; a tear
For one in sorrow;
A helping hand to all
Who reach to me;
A hope to them who fear;
A courage strong to face tomorrow.
—Annabel Parks, Lancaster, Texas.

chairman of the State Board of Water Engineers; R. J. McMahan, chairman and engineer of the State Reclamation Department; C. S. Kirkpatrick, chief engineer of the Missouri Pacific Lines; R. W. Barnes, chief engineer of the Southern Pacific Lines; Congressman Milton West of Brownsville; Terrell Bartlett, San Antonio engineer; Alfred Ranney, engineer; Julian Montgomery, State Highway engineer; E. A. Wood, director of the State Planning Board; C. S. Fowler, president of the Nueces Valley Authority, and others.

The group plans to leave San Antonio early Sunday morning and will make brief visits to D'Hanis, where two serious floods occurred in 1935, and to the site of the proposed Frio dam at Concan. In the afternoon they will visit the sites of the proposed dams on the Nueces near Laguna and another, and also inspect two possible dam sites on the West Prong of the Nueces.

Early Monday morning, the party will leave for a tour of the Winter Garden district and an inspection of the two dam sites at Cotulla and Fowlerton. The itinerary calls for the trip to end at Three Rivers.

According to word received here this week from Fowler, the recent special session of the legislature passed a bill enlarging the powers of the district with references to the building of dams, acquisition of right-of-way and other details, so that certain requirements of the Federal government could be met.

Fowler, F. W. Pulliam of Crystal City and Jesse Wright of Corpus Christi attended the recent hearing of the National Resources Committee in Austin, the purpose of the submitting to the committee the needs of the district.

Fowler has been advised that additional funds have been obtained by army engineers for detailed survey work and at least two engineering crews will be placed in the field before Nov. 15. The detailed survey will result in the preparation of a suitable plan for flood control, together with estimates of the cost and the benefits which will accrue from its execution.

LARK.

By Lela Willhite.

A fee'lark sings . . . "Sweetheart, You're sweet, Sweetheart."
A soul leaps this joy to hold
For e'er a glorious part.

He sings across the summer's Golden waving grain
And autumn finds his mellowed
Song clear in the rain.

But with the spring he Joyfully sings, "You're sweet, Sweetheart, you're sweet" . . . and
On until summer and autumn meet.

Gaily soars the meadow o'er
And valleys wide
And bides with us the morning
And 'til even-tide.

"Culling is one of the main factors that has made it possible for me to bring the profit per hen from 58 cents up to $2.63 a year during the four years I have been poultry demonstrator," says Mrs. L. H. Obenhaus of Wharton county. The average production per hen has been brought up from 115 eggs to 232 1-2 eggs during the time. To continue making a profit on the poultry flock, Mrs. Obenhaus culled her flock this month removing the non-producers, early slow molters, and old hens from the laying flock, and the slow under-developed ones among the pullets which will go into production this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Bissett of Refugio county have recently built three self-feeders for chickens, each feeder being 10 feet long. They have also put modern roosts in their poultry houses to eliminate breeding places for insects. The roosts and self-feeders were constructed according to Extension Service plans.

By Stewart Edward White

"He's Gone Off Mad, and Don't You Fool Yourself on That."

"Now what's the trouble?" demanded Grimstead.

"The trouble is your program is destructive," stated Davenport succinctly, "and aims merely at personal power without a thought to the welfare of other people. The thing is likely to prove a curse rather than a benefit. I think you are intelligent enough to understand my point without going into it further."

"I understand your point all right. And I understand your sort too well to argue with you. Argument's the long suit of your kind. So I'm just telling you. It's too bad you don't like my program, but I play the cards I hold and that is final."

"In those circumstances I shall refuse to enter into this deal."

"In those circumstances it doesn't matter a d—n whether you do or not. You've already entered into it."

"I shall refuse to sign the contract."

"You've already agreed to sign it."

Grimstead pointed out, "and if you don't sign it, a court decree will put it into effect anyhow. You are thinking that you may be able in some way to refuse to divulge your process. Eh? I thought so. No go. You'll either have to produce it or be buried for life. The thing exists; I can prove it. You have contracted to deliver it. If you don't do it I shall enter suit first and collect every cent you may have by way of damages. Then I'll get a court order and if you don't pony up you'll go to jail for contempt. And I'll keep it up. I have a long arm, young man!"

Davenport's face flushed as this direct threat kindled him to defiance. Before he could speak Grimstead interposed.

"You're about to tell me to go to h—l," said he with a short laugh. "You're mad enough at this moment to chuck the whole thing. That's because you're young. But you'll get over it when you think about it. It wouldn't do you any good. Your battery would be buried along with you. Nobody but me would be allowed to touch it. It, as well as you, would be lost to the world."

Grimstead paused a moment to allow this to sink in. Then he went on in a more reassuring tone.

"You're not a business man, Mr. Davenport, and you don't realize that the business world is a fight from start to finish. It will be to the interest of every one affected to suppress this battery; in fact it will be a matter of life and death to them. And believe me, they'll fight to do so! I don't believe you quite appreciate what it means to have nearly the whole business world solidly against you, nor what a tremendous power they wield to crush you. It is a case of fight back harder than they fight, and to get the jump on them first."

He went on developing his point, showing that only by this early and unexpected raid into the enemy's camp could the ultimate success of the project be assured. Then he went on to point the moral by drawing a contrast picture—Davenport in jail, discredited, broke, and above all inefficient; Davenport possessed of practically untold wealth, with the opportunities, if he so wished, of repairing damage inevitable to the readjustment. It was a pretty good plea, for a specious one. Grimstead himself was admirably impressed by it, and reconvinced of the entire justice and expediency of his course; Gardiner, too, even arrived at a gentle glow of indignation that anyone should even for a moment stand in the way of so obvious a procedure. Davenport, however, did not seem impressed. He stared at Grimstead with level gaze until the Pirate Chief had finished; then he arose from his log, remarked curtly that the situation was perfectly clear, and strode away in the direction of the creek crossing. Burton, after a moment, followed him.

Grimstead laughed and relighted his cigar.

"That was a good talk, chief," observed Gardiner, "and the whole thing is perfectly obvious. Even a blind man could see that."

"Well, don't fool yourself," replied the older man, "it was breath wasted as far as he is concerned. He's gone off mad, and don't you fool yourself on that."

"What can be done about it?"

"Nothing. But he'll try. I know that age and kind. And I don't doubt he'll find lawyers enough to help him. But I know my business and I have my wires to pull. Don't you fret!"

Burton overtook Davenport at the stream's edge. She saw at once that he could not permit himself to utter a word. She took his hand. He made a half effort as though to snatch it away, but she resisted it firmly. For several minutes they stood thus. Grad-though dad doesn't scare very easily. Anyway, I have every confidence you'll get the agreement. Then what?"

"Why then we have it!"

"Yes; and they can swear that it existed, and that it was taken from them by force."

"Well, what would you do then?"

"I'd steal it."

"Steal it!"

"Yes. Snatch it unbeknownst like you know!" she explained, her eyes sparkling with excitement. "Then what proof have they, except each other's words! You could deny that. Would you lie nicely in a good cause, do you think?" she mocked him.

"I don't know; it wouldn't be necessary. I think the burden of proof would be on them. You're right, though. Your head is worth two of mine. How will we do it?"

"Dissemble," she cried, vibrant with the eagerness of the adventure. "Fool them to the limit! Maybe I wouldn't want you to lie, but I'd just as soon you'd dissemble. We want them to think that your opposition has blown over; that you're all ready to go ahead with the scheme. Then father won't hang onto his bill fold too closely and—"

"How do you know it's in the bill fold?"

"I saw him put it there," she explained impatiently.

"And he carries it in his coat pocket," Larry pointed out, "and his coat on his back! He's either got to be held up, or else one of us has got to turn pickpocket. I'm not skillful enough for that."

"We'll get hold of it, unless he gets suspicious," she brushed this aside impatiently. "That's why I say we must dissemble."

"Dissemble!" cried Larry. "But now, I do not, I confess, admire the methods and outlook of your parent, but I will hand it to him on common sense. Such a sudden about face on my part may not appeal to it."

"I've thought of that," she said. A slow color was mounting to her cheeks. "First of all it must become known who you are."

"Who I am?" echoed Larry, bewildered by this apparent chance of subject.

"He thinks you are a garage man, remember."

"I forgot that," laughed Davenport. "All right; I drop the disguise and appear in my full royal regalia as the Celebrated Author. Do you imagine that will impress him?"

"Then—she hesitated—"then we give him the plausible reason for your changing your mind."

"Which is?"

"The announcement of our engagement," she said in a voice so low that he barely heard it.

At this most unpropitious moment there came around the bend Simmins, logging two drying and infinitesimal trout at the end of a forked willow switch.

"D—n!" muttered Davenport fervently.

Simmins approached, fatuously pleased with itself, and quite oblivious to Davenport's glowering.

"A rare afternoon of sport, I call it, sir," he chirped. "Not what one would call a large catch, but distinctly sporting in the taking."

"Look here, Simmins," said Davenport. "Do you want to do me a favor?"

Simmins' sensitive, artistic nature sensed importance here.

"Yes, sir, indeed, yes, sir," he answered, meaning, "to the death, oh, comrade of my soul!"

"I am going to intrust you with a secret, Simmins," went on Davenport with all the impressiveness he could muster, "in fact, two secrets."

"Yes, sir!" cried Simmins a little breathlessly.

TRANSFORMATION.

She left the city's toil and din.
She went to a farmhouse and they took her in;
She opened the windows, let in the sun—
Transformation had begun.
She took a walk in the early morn
And didn't come in till they blowed the horn.

She drank the milk from the Jersey cow,
Ate the eggs the speckled hen laid in the mow,
She threw away her heart's ill
And every day she climbed the hill;
Out in the sun she shelled peas
And silted the corn
And mended the dress that Rover had torn.

At last she went back to her city life
With blessings on the farmer's wife,
And thanks to the Father in Heaven
For the strength, the health and the joy
He had given.

BELINDA—THE FARM GIRL.

Belinda, dear, with rosy cheeks
And a smile the whole day through,
Milked the cow and fed the chicks
Then made the butter too.
Than once a week to church would go,
Dressed in her Sunday gown;
She wouldn't look right or left
For fear of doing wrong.

I called to take her to the ball,
But her Father he objected;
So I grabbed my gal and the old gray hoss
And gave him the merry Ha, Ha!
He laid for me with his boot jack;
To make it seem more even
I kissed her quick and jumped the fence
And said "I'll see you later!"

He gave consent to the marriage vows;
"Be kind to my only daughter,
Treat her with love and kindness",
Is the prayer of her old Father.
I've tried to do my very best
In our little farm out yonder,
Sun shining bright on our little girl
Driving the cows to pasture.

HOW TO ELIMINATE HOME FIRE HAZARDS.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters has just released a bulletin entitled, "What to Look for in Dwelling Inspections". While the bulletin is specially designed for firemen, the advice it gives can easily be followed to advantage by home owners.

Items to be checked from outside the house include: 1. Condition of roof. Old or warped roofing collects sparks. 2. Condition of chimneys. Loose bricks, open joints, cracks, improper supports, etc., present obvious dangers. 3. Condition of the yard. Dry grass, leaves, papers and other combustible accumulations constitute a serious fire hazard to adjacent places. 4. Condition of garages and sheds. Cleanliness and good maintenance are essential precautions. 5. The storage of hazardous materials such as oil and kerosene.

Inside the house a thorough fire inspection must include the checking of accumulated waste and discarded materials; storage of fuel; the condition of furnaces, stoves and other heating appliances; possible defects in inside chimneys, fire stops, etc.

The citizen who is uncertain as to hazards and their elimination can get the necessary information from the National Board of Fire Underwriters, 85 John Street, New York. He can doubtless obtain the assistance of local fire marshals. Periodic inspection by owners would unquestionably prevent the great majority of the dwelling fires which destroy millions of dollars in property values and take hundreds of lives annually.

PRINTING HIGHER.

By Clayton Rand.

With rising costs printing, too, is going up. Paper, ink, type, and presses are on the up.

Taxes, labor, unemployment and old age insurance, and the hundred and one things that enter into the manufacture of the printed products, are boosting costs.

Smart business men are buying their printing well in advance of a rising market.

Smarter business men are using more and better printing to coral a larger share of the increased business that is no longer around the corner.

The cheapest item in the business man's budget is still good printing.

B. H. Moore
Head Football Coach

This is the fourth in a series of nine outstanding diagram plays by nine leading college coaches from Grantland Rice's Cities Service Football Guide.

THIS diagram shows a power play that we used very successfully through our 1936 season. No. 4 receives the ball and takes two steps to his right before cutting inside of the right tackle. No. 1 blocks out the defensive left end and No. 2 and No. 3 backs take out the defensive left tackle. Our right end cross blocks on the defensive left guard while our left guard cuts back of the line and checks the defensive full back while leading the play through the line of scrimmage. The other blocking assignments are clearly shown in the diagram. We used this play with very good results against some of our most difficult opponents, Vanderbilt, Auburn and Tulane. This play was always good for a few yards when we sandwiched it in between a series of forward passes and end runs.

FOR BETTER TELEPHONE SERVICE

ring off!

When you finish talking over the telephone, always be sure to give the handle a quick turn. This tells the operator you are through talking.

If you DON'T "ring off," one of two things might happen:

Your next ring may bring the same person back to the telephone, or...

The operator may think you are still talking and, if someone tries to call you in the meantime, she may say, "The line is busy."

You can help the operator to give you—and every other telephone user—better service by observing this simple rule: "Always ring off."
